SOME OBSERVATIONS

Concerning Nothing Very Serious But Worthy of Thought.

With the beginning of the new volume of the Journal, we are not only grateful for the Past, but also willing to trust the Future—all others Cash.

A little friend said to us—"Sixty years is a awful long time. Was the big island here, when the Journal was borned?"

The Weston Herald says: "Cheer up, the North winds blow, but Spring is on the way." To which we shiveringly ask—"WHICH way?"

There are several very good driving animals in and near Perrysburg and a little good racing might be had next summer if a good track could be secured, which would be very interesting to the public provided the track was along the street car line, thus making it easy of access by the people.

It seems that Wood county would be represented on the Republican State ticket and that Auditor Stinebaugh has indicated that he would be willing to wear the title of Treasurer of State. Well, he might do worse, and so might the people, but if he wants the job Wood county Republicans should give him sincere and enthusiastic support.

There are symptoms of hopefulness and great desire cropping out in various parts of Wood county these days whereby we are given to believe that political bees are buzzing around the bonnets of many otherwise truly good and sane men. By Easter time we may expect a full crop of candidates. Here's hoping they may be numerous and full of enthusiasm.

FEED THE BIRDS.

During such severe weather, when the ground is covered with snow, it is very difficult for birds to obtain food, and many freeze of that account. It is a very humane practice to throw out crumbs and small grain where it may be obtained by the birds. It also pays to do so.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the relatives and friends for their sympathy and kindness shown to us in the loss of our father and grandfather. Mr. Michael Muth. Also to thank Rev. Dietz for his consoling words and the choir for beautiful service.

MRS. MARY WHITMAN and Family.

MAUMEE WOMAN DIES.

Mrs. Charlotte Young Winslow, 85, died at 7 o'clock Friday morning at her home in Maumee as the result of infirmities. She was the oldest member of the First Presbyterian Church. She is survived by a son, Arthur, and daughter Alida.

DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT.

BATHING AT LIME CITY

Those fashionable people down at Atlantic City, who took their New Year morning plunge in the ocean surf, have nothing on the people of Lime City, where they go out to the quarries and cut the ice in order that they may take a cold plunge.

One of the events of last week was the winter bathing of Henry Nolart and Chris Bauman who cut their way through 12 inches of ice to perform the heroic stunt.

A NEW VOLUME

Commencing the Sixty-Second Year of Work in Perrysburg.

With this issue the Journal commences its 62d year, almost twenty five years of which time has been under its present ownership and management.

During those years many changes have occurred in Perrysburg, and while the village is a village still, we are pleased to be able to say that it is not so "still" as it was some years ago.

It is exceedingly gratifying to be able to state that the good old town is rapidly improving and that there is every indication that the future contains much of success and prosperity for Perrysburg. During the quarter century of our ownership of the Journal we have earnestly endeavored to keep its pages clean and free from any "yellow taint" in order that it might be an acceptable visitor in the homes of the people, and it is very gratifying to be able to state that throughout all these years it has been our constant and never failing practice of singing the praise of Perrysburg and earnestly seeking to inculcate in the minds of our village people the desire and determination to do something for the Home Town.

For the patronage received we have always endeavored to show our appreciation and have faithfully striven to give full value in return.

We are therefore both grateful and hopeful.

THE TERRIBLE BUZZ SAW

Two Men Have Fingers Badly Lacerated by Saw.

While engaged in operating a buzz saw in cutting wood, Mr. B. W. King, living three miles south of Perrysburg was badly injured on Friday last, by having his left hand come in contact with the saw, cutting off the ends of three fingers of the left hand.

His injuries though painful are not serious.

Mr. Ray Mandell, son of W. A. Mandell, residing about 3 miles east of Perrysburg, was severely injured while operating a buzz saw in his fathers woods where they were cutting wood.

His right hand was drawn into the machine and the first finger so badly lacerated that it was necessary to remove the finger. He was brought to the Rheinfrank hospital for medical attention.

BELIEVE IN ADVERTISING

Mr. Charles P. Champney attended the meeting at Columbus of the Ohio druggists who are identified with the sale of the Rexall preparations.

These druggists meet every year for the purpose of discussing the best methods of pushing the sale of Rexall goods as well as a general exchange of knowledge pertaining to the drug business.

The Rexall people are known throughout the United States as among the most successful manufacturers and wholesalers of medicines and toilet preparations and they owe their success to the fact that their products are meritorious and that they have been made popular and known throughout the world by a liberal and continuous system of advertising—a system that pays the highest price for best positions for large blocks of space. Employing every possible means known to the advertiser in the effort to keep before the public the name of REXALL.

Look on the back page of this paper and notice the size of their ad. It is a pointer to the wise man who desires to have the public buy his goods.

It certainly pays to advertising or the Rexall people would have been bankrupt years ago.

Perrysburg business men would help improve Perrysburg and their own business conditions by a liberal system of judicious advertising.

The campaign of Publicity which the Perrysburg Civic association desires to introduce for spreading broadcast the business conditions and the living advantages of Perrysburg could be no better advanced than by having every issue of the Journal contain the advertisement of every firm or business house of the village.

Let the people throughout the country know that Perrysburg is a real, live town and that the business men are hustlers, proud of the town in which they are located, that they are live wires and want the world to know it. IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE. For the proof, ask the Rexall people.

REV. LOWRY IN THE WEST

Pueblo, Colo.
Feb. 20, 1914.

Dear Mr. Blue:—

I have been having what they say out west, "A whale of a time." The weather has been ideal—sunshine every day since my coming. Last week however I was taken with a real hard case of Grippe which layed me up in bed for several days and I am afraid is going to interfere with my visit to Santa Fe and Albuquerque. I am the guest of a doctor (an old friend) and you can imagine the medicine he poured into me while he had me thus at his mercy.

I have certainly had a splendid time. Have been out on some of the ranches and have been amazed at the enterprise of these western farmers. I was a guest one evening at the meeting of the Commerce Club of Pueblo when a number of government representatives were present and explained some vast projects which Uncle Sam is carrying on for the reclamation of some of these desert lands. It gives me quite an insight into the problems they are having to meet here.

Pueblo by the way has recently adopted "Single Tax" and will be an experiment worth watching in future.

Two things here much impressed me on this visit to the west, the first is the respect paid to a man if he is from Ohio. That seems a splendid introduction—a thing decidedly in his favor. The second is that it is individuality out here that counts, what a man is, not what he has been or what his family may be.

I meant to write you a good letter and sooner but my attack of Grippe has unfitted me for thinking or writing; Please remember me kindly to all friends.

I expect to be home about March 1.
Sincerely Yours,
GEORGE H. LOWRY.

DEATH OF J. PETERSON

Mr. J. H. Peterson, died at his home near Lime City, Wood county, on Sunday, Feb. 22, 1914, at the age of 67 years.

Deceased was born in Germany and came to Wood county, O., about 38 years ago.

He leaves a widow, four daughters and one son to mourn his departure.

The funeral services were conducted at the Lime City church on Tuesday, Rev. Born officiating, and the remains interred in Ft. Meigs cemetery.

HOW IS YOUR BOILER?

It has been stated that a man's stomach is his boiler, his body is his engine and his mouth the fire box. Is your boiler (stomach) in good working order or is it so weak that it will not stand a full load and not able to supply the needed energy to your engine (body)? If you have any trouble with your stomach, Chamberlain's Tablets will do you good. They strengthen and invigorate the stomach and enable it to do its work naturally. Many very remarkable cures of stomach trouble have been effected by them. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

California Man Writes of His Youthful Days in Perrysburg.

Looking backward is what a former Perrysburg boy, W. A. Lewis, is doing from his home in Marysville, California, and in a letter to the Journal he says:

"I am with you to-day (35 years ago) since which time I have not been in Ohio, and we will now take a walk from the Hayes pond down Front street as far as the Dunipace vineyard (those were some grapes down there.)

Now we will go down on Third street and stand in front of Bader's hall near the Dayton & Michigan railroad and let me name a few of the people who may pass by. Here comes James Charles, the village Marshal, and Sheriff Baird with George and Charlie; there comes Jim and Tommy Franey and their sisters; Emma, Zula and Henry Webb; Henry and George Hillabrand; Mr. Trowbridge, the owner of the stove factory; big Tom Parkhurst; Kater VanHellen, the swimmer; the Escotts and Hitchcock boys. There's Billy Nickols and the man with no arms (I forget his name.) and there goes Eddie O'Connor. Mr. Roach, the road Master and his son Ed, and the Wedertz family who lived near the depot. There comes John Webb down the street with his two-wheeled dray, driving up in front of Fitzgerald's place on Louisiana Avenue. There is Charles Stevens and Dave Bates on the corner, talking with J. R. Tyler, the attorney. On the other side are Chris and Fred Zeanger, Georgie Korn, Jesse and Will Norton. Look behind us—there's Martin Lally and John Cradic turning the pony engine around while Mr. Powell, the agent, is scolding them. Here comes McMonagle's four-mule-team lime wagons, loaded with lime for shipment on the D. & M.

Let us go up the north side of Main street. These three buildings belong to D. Lucas; driving out of the alley is Jack McKnight. Here is Mr. Schillinger's shoe shop, next is Mr. Schleet's harness shop; Nick Emch's brick building, Yeagers store and the brick shoe store on the corner—I forget the name. Further along is the Himmelman shop; then the meat market and there is James Timmons coming down stairs from the Journal office; here's Hoffman's meat market and a few doors further along is the small building with old style columns in front—Mr. Hollenbeck's office.

Stop a minute, and look across the street in the shade of the maple trees, and see that bevy of girls—Bertha Trowbridge, Hattie Hunt, Alice Crook Alice Fitzgerald, Ella McCauley, Nettie Oblinger and Nettie Lawrence.

We are on Front street now. See Henry Peck coming across from the house; and say, can't you hear the sound of the caulking chisels coming up from the ship yard; the hum of the planer from the mill near the dock, and the rumbling, dead sound of the flour mill opposite the factory?

And last night we saw Uncle Tom's Cabin and while Joe K. French was singing a parody on "Baby Mine" I thought the people would go frantic.

But, say, Ed, its time for the "Cora Locke" to start down the river for Toledo, so I'll hurry down the hill and get aboard."

This letter will be of particular interests to those of our readers who were "on the stage" in those days.

Its old story repeated. Go as far away as land and sea will permit, to him who has once lived in this good old town, the heart turns back and there is always a longing to return.
